RedMax understands that landscaping professionals do not always have the space to accommodate a full inventory of large-scale power equipment products. Therefore, we have developed the versatile Maxtreme. Utilizing our patented Strato-Charged engine technology, the main engine and drive shaft assembly combines with five individual tool attachments. These attachments can be switched out quickly and easily, making the Maxtreme truly versatile without sacrificing quality or durability. By using a single engine power source, users maintain just one engine instead of several. What truly sets the Maxtreme apart from the competition is its seven-point, splined, solid-steel drive shaft. This high-quality design reduces vibration throughout the shaft, thereby delivering better power transfer to each attachment. In addition, the solid-steel construction of the shaft further reduces vibration during acceleration and deceleration, an invaluable feature in the field.
